A GOOD DEFENCE

FREQUENTLY during a game it is the defence man who saves his team at a critical moment. A strong defence gives confidence to the team. This is true in life also—a Bank Account is the best defence to have, it inspires confidence and is always there should things go wrong.

LARGE TURNOUT OF ROOTERS EXPECTED

"Nuts" Nutting Will Be the Cheer Leader

Rooters are asked to be on time at tomorrow night's game against the University of Montreal at the Mount Royal Arena. The entire west end of the Arena has been reserved as a rooting section. A preliminary practice will be held at the Arena about 7:30. The rooters will be under the capable leadership of "Nuts" Nutting, "Bub" Davies, and Jeff Harding.

To save a few lungs, the men are advised to get their vocal organs in trim, as "Nuts" Nutting is determined to have his men shout out the University of Montreal rooters. The band had an excellent practice last night in preparation for tomorrow night's game and will be on hand to help the rooters along. Rooters' tickets are on sale at 55 cents.

HEALTH OF FUTURE NATION IS SUBJECT

Physiological Society to Hear Dr. Wells Tonight

As previously announced, the opportunity will be given to-night of hearing Dr. Wells at the meeting of the Physiological Society, in the Biological Building at 8:15. "The health of the nation in future generations will depend entirely upon the mother," is the subject of the address which is to be illustrated by lantern slides. The importance of proper diet, the injurious results caused by a lack of the anti-scorbutic vitamin, the early pathological changes occurring in the teeth, and other topics of like importance will be dealt with in the course of the lecture. The conclusions of Dr. Wells are all based on evidence which he has gathered from a long series of experiments. As usual, the informal nature of the Society's meetings will promote questions and discussion. The problem of diet and its solution are matters which concern every one, and, as discussed to-night, will be of particular interest to graduates and students of the Medical and Dental Faculties. An open invitation is extended to all those who are interested. The meeting is to be held in the large lecture theatre of the Biological Building at 8:15 p.m.

A SENIOR PROBLEM

Each year a great many young men, seniors in the various educational institutions throughout the country, face the problem of deciding on what work they will do after their graduation. It is not surprising, when one pauses to consider it, that the vast majority of these men are students in the colleges whose curricula are more or less general. The men chose those courses because they were general. So now, what work will it be?

The old fashioned practical man is apt to look upon this younger student with disapproval simply because he has gone nearly through his college work with no definite idea as to what he wants to do. Surely one should know by the time he is a junior exactly what his life work is to be, he points out. But should he?

It is well to have a definite goal toward which to work. Young men who are more interested in the study of medicine or law or engineering than in anything else are fortunate, for their work is more or less mapped out for

KEEN GAME IS EXPECTED WEDNESDAY

Announced
The Probable Line-up Is

AT ARENA

U. of M. Team Exceptionally Strong

This Wednesday night the McGill Senior Hockey team meets the University of Montreal, the latest addition to the Canadian Intercollegiate Hockey League. The Red and White team has done some strenuous practising during the last couple of weeks, and is at present at top form. The men will enjoy a well-earned rest today and tomorrow, as Coach Shaughnessy does not wish to run the risk of the men going stale.

Of those who took part in the rather strenuous Christmas schedule all are in tip-top form, except Lynch, who was unfortunately injured while playing at Boston. The absence of Lynch, a player whose equal it is hard to find, will be severely felt in Wednesday night's contest.

Flanagan has displayed extraordinary merit this year, being the only sure shot on the team.

The find of the season is Morriss, who will look after McGill's goals. His exhibition in the recent tour to the United States was nothing short of spectacular.

Dempsey and McGerrigle have played a steady and consistent game, though neither of these men put over anything that could be called outstanding. Bell, who did substitute work in the recent games, and who was instrumental in the scoring of several goals, will fill the left wing position, left vacant by the unfortunate injury of Jack Lynch.

A thing that is hampering the team greatly in its work is the lack of good substitutes. Although the season has to all intents and purposes already begun, no new material has been unearthed to fill this much-felt void.

University of Montreal's defeat at Quebec on Saturday should not put too much confidence in McGill. The team at Quebec was an exceptionally strong one and U. of M. put up a very stiff fight. Desbiens and the brothers La Marre showed up well in the game as was fully expected.

The probable line-up of McGill for Wednesday follows:
Morriss, goal; McGerrigle, Dempsey, defence; Bell, Flanagan, Morrison, forwards.

McGILL MADE GOOD SHOWING IN STATES

Letter to Principal Following American Carnival

That the McGill team which competed at the recent winter carnival at Lake Placid made a very favorable impression on the Americans seems evident from a letter received by Sir Arthur Currie yesterday from Mr. H. W. Hicks, of the Lake Placid Club. It reads as follows:—

My Dear Sir,—On behalf of the officers of Lake Placid Club and the Snow Birds, its winter sports organization, I wish to testify to our great satisfaction in having entertained during the College Week winter sports competition, such fine representatives of winter sportsmanship as the team of five men from McGill headed by R. C. Whittall, as Captain. The names of the other men were:—

A. Gravel,
T. Brown,
H. Smith,
D. Anderson.

These men together won 17 points in the competition, which included races described on the enclosed circular. They placed next to Dartmouth and for a time seemed to be within range of winning the President Harding trophy.

The membership of Lake Placid Club is drawn from both United States and Canada. It therefore seemed wise to invite certain Canadian institutions to send teams as was done this year.

We hope that their presence here and splendid record will mean entry next year and a continuance of this intercollegiate relationship which may mean so much for clean sport and for the promotion of the enjoyment of winter sports among the colleges of both countries.

Sincerely yours,
H. W. HICKS.

OPPORTUNITY OF HEARING BARON BYNG

Will Speak in Convocation Hall of the R.V.C.

AT FIVE O'CLOCK

Mandolin and Glee Club Expected to Be Present

This afternoon at five o'clock, His Excellency, Baron Byng of Vimy, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., M.V.O., Governor-General of Canada, Visitor of McGill University, will address the student body in the Convocation Hall of the R.V.C., under the auspices of the McGill Canadian Club.

The position which His Excellency occupies, coupled with the esteem in which he is held, particularly by the "Byng boys" of whom there are many now at the University, should in themselves be a sufficient incentive to attend.

His Excellency will not confine his visit to the University solely to the address which he is to give, but will in addition make an inspection of the new Biological building. This will be done previous to giving his address. Accompanied by the Principal, Sir Arthur Currie, His Excellency will proceed from the Principal's office shortly after 3 o'clock. Upon arriving at the Biological building they will be met by the professors of the department and conducted through the building.

His Excellency has evinced a keen interest in the educational institutions of the Dominion since taking up the duties of his office. The visit will be of an informal nature.

It is not yet known for a certainty whether the Mandolin and Glee Clubs will be in attendance, but it is very probable and their presence will undoubtedly enhance the pleasure of the afternoon.

MONSTER PARADE THIS SATURDAY

McGill Will Have Suitable Float

From all present indications, McGill will certainly be represented in the monster parade which is being held in connection with the Winter Carnival which will take place on Saturday, January 13, at 2:30.

All the various winter sport clubs will be represented by full membership, with a float, wherever possible. As yet, there has been no definite student decision as to whether McGill will take part in this Winter Carnival parade or not, but the Ski Club, Snowshoe Club and Hockey Club will be represented. These clubs will have a float in the parade, and there will be a final membership. The club's promise to put forth a float suitable enough to put McGill to the front in the parade.

STUDENT LEARNS OF WAR FOR FIRST TIME

The amount of news which finds its way into a prison may be judged by the story of Harry P. Gerguson. He was a student attending Heidelberg University in 1913 and as a result of a duel he was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. Released a short time ago, he had not even heard of the existence of a war, great or otherwise. Gerguson recently returned to New York.

TO VOTE ON SOCIETY FOR ALL CO-EDS

All R.V.C. Students Will Vote on Wednesday

McGILL WOMEN

Are All Women Students of McGill to Be United?

Voting will take place on Wednesday, January 10, at R.V.C. from 9 to 5 o'clock on the question of the formation of a society for women students at McGill. All the R.V.C. students are urgently requested to register their vote as it is most important that the decision arrived at should be representative of the general feeling of the women students in Arts.

At the last meeting of the Undergraduate Society, in December, suggestions for the proposed constitution of the society were made and if the decision arrived at is in favour of the formation of such a society, the following suggestions will be sent up to the Representative Committee from the R.V.C. Undergraduates:

I.—Membership: All women students of the University who pay the universal fee and that all women students in each school, department and faculty represented on the Council shall pay this fee.

II.—Object: To promote the general interests of women students.

III.—Officers: President, First and Second Vice-Presidents, two Secretaries and a Treasurer. One secretary shall attend to correspondence and the other to the recording of minutes and notices.

IV.—Executive Council: (1) The administration of all the business of the society shall be invested in the Executive Council; (2) It shall be composed of (a) the President and Vice-Presidents of the Society; (b) the Presidents of the following: Athletic Society, Delta Sigma Society, Students' Christian Society, Société Française; (c) the woman editor of the McGill Daily; (d) a representative from each of the faculties and departments: Arts, Law, Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Graduates' School, School of Social Science, Music, School of Physical Education, School of Graduate Nurses. Each representative shall be a full course student in her faculty or department.

3.—The Executive Council shall be the only recognizable medium between the women students and the University authorities and the general public.

4.—It shall control all funds contributed by the general body of students to any undergraduate enterprise.

5.—All articles written for the "Daily" by women students shall pass through the hands of the woman editor.

6.—It shall act as a court before which any student may be called to account for a misdemeanor.

7.—(a) The President and Vice-Presidents shall be elected by the student body; (b) The Executive Council shall appoint the two secretaries and the treasurer from outside the Executive; (c) The President shall be elected from the representatives of the various faculties and departments.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY BEFORE CLUB

Historians Announce Attractive Syllabus

The programme of the Historical Club for the remainder of the season has been completed, and from all appearances the members of this organization will hear papers on topics which are live questions to-day. There are to be four more regular meetings, followed by the annual meeting on March 27th, when a speaker of note will be chosen to give an address, and elections of officers for the next year will take place.

The following is the schedule of meetings:—

January 31—Canadian Immigration and Population: N. Egerton and G. Van Vliet.

February 14th—The Constitution and Three Years' Experience of the League of Nations: W. Ginn, G. Lafleur.

February 28th—Governor Simcoe and Lord Dorchester: L. Tombs and C. Goulay.

March 14—New European States: J. Lloyd and A. R. Stone.

March 28—Open Meeting and election of officers.

IT REALLY HAPPENED

The evening, characterized by scented flowers, dim lighting effects, bright colored silken gowns, severe dress suits, and the undertone of conventional conversation, was drawing to a close. The inexperienced, and somewhat nervous hostesses, very prim in their attempt to appear composed, were receiving the adieus of the guests.

One hostess, in particular, stood very straight and stiff with a set smile on her face which evidenced the determination to cover the inward quaking panic. In tones which were in keeping with her mechanical smile, she, in reply to the guests' expressions of a very pleasant evening, answered: "I am so glad you did." She said it so often without variation that the reply came to her lips in parrot-like fashion. At length a man of whom she was in great awe approached her, extended his hand and said: "Why how do you do and good-bye, both, Miss Brown." The smile did not change and as the hostess extended her hand in the most approved manner, she replied, "I am so glad you did." — The Evergreen.

BEAVER

The "Michigan Daily" makes the following valuable suggestions re the application of the principles of the game "beaver" to campus life:

"We have long contemplated the culmination of a Beaver contest in the campus' midst. The ancient and frequently honorable game of Beaver, you know, is dependent upon the recognition of various cuts and styles of whiskers. We feel, somehow, a lack of legitimate Beaver material in facial foliage on the campus, and have decided that BOOTS make a far, far better subject."

On seeing a girl wearing any one (or two) of the following you will cry "BEAVER!" whereupon the points accruing to the article of apparel observed may be added to your score.

RUBBERS—minus 1 point.
GALOSHES—3 points.
BOOTS—5 points.

GENUINE RUBBER BOOTS—10 honor points and cut yourself another piece of cake.

He—Let's go to the rink.
She—I don't skate skoon.

THE WAY OF IT

Learned diagnosticians of human ills, on the alert for signs of social decadence, wring their hands over the fact that women as a rule receive higher grades than men in school. This, they are certain, signalizes the approach of female dominance over men in fields of intellectual achievement.

Psychologists affirm, after close study of scientific data, that greater concentration of attention is secured at close quarters than further away. Whether the young ladies choose the front seats in order to study the instructor's tie or whether they get closer to be near at hand to pick up the morsels of wisdom with the least amount of effort is a nice question that cannot be settled offhand. But in any case, either form of study has a salutary effect on the marks, faculty members to the contrary.

So learned diagnosticians need not bewail. Strategy is a low form of intelligence, a species of mental alertness, a quickness to make the most of little details that does not become the intellectual giants who slumber in the rear of the classroom. They scorn little subterfuges and rest content in their immeasurable potentiality of intellectual strength, knowing that such an incalculable reservoir will never be exhausted on any occasion of larger significance.

And then, what is an A grade to the guilty pleasure of a sweet nap in the midst of discussion of international co-operation or geography as a determinant of industrial distribution?

—Minnesota Daily.

This afternoon McGill is to be honoured by, and in its turn will do honour to the Governor-General. Baron Byng will address the Student Body at a meeting of the Canadian Club to be held in the auditorium of the Royal Victoria College. Gatherings of the Canadian Club called before the Christmas Interim attracted wide interest, as well as enthusiastic audiences which crowded the Hall to its capacity. It is safe to predict that McGill will welcome today's visitor in no less unmistakable manner and that the attendance of the undergraduates will be a token of the respect tendered by the students to their guest and to the remarks which they anticipate from him.

The conduct of the Canadian Club during the last few months has been an example of an apparently defunct organization brought back to the place of prominence it by right enjoys in the life of the undergraduate. The Student Body of the University has been privileged to attend, at intervals of two weeks, meetings at which various notables have spoken, men of whom most of their hearers knew, but when whom most of them had never till then, heard or seen. This afternoon's meeting is emphatic evidence of the good work being carried on by the McGill Canadian Club.

WOMEN HAVE NO SOUL SAYS GEORGE HARVEY

"Have women souls?" was the remarkable question presented to the Authors' Club in London by American Ambassador George Harvey, recently. The immediate cause for this doubt in the ambassador's mind as to the reality of a spiritual side in woman, was the fact that nowhere in either the Pentateuch or the Talmud was there a recognition in the decalogue of the possession of souls or inherent rights by women.

According to Mr. Harvey the Ten Commandments were written only for men and apply exclusively to men. In ancient times the woman had no place in the law, and if we are still to obey the Ten Commandments they should be revised to meet the modern conditions, where women are on an equal footing with men in almost every department of life. If this revision is not possible, Mr. Harvey declares there should be an entirely new and specific decalogue drawn up exclusively for women. Theologians were not taking up the proposition as they should, he said, and whether this was from inability or unwillingness to undertake the task, it was a problem which should be attended to. Therefore he presented it to the Authors' Club for solution.

But Harvey's unexpected and challenging doubt that women have souls, was answered three days later in Paris, where Ambassador Myron T. Herrick addressed the Franco-American Committee on the Devastated Regions. In lauding the heroic work of Miss Anne Morgan and Mrs. Anna Dike as well as that of all American women, he had an opportunity to declare that he for one believed women had souls.

"Some people say that woman comes from the rib of man," he declared, "but we owe these women a great debt of gratitude. . . . Women not only made a great achievement in cementing tighter the relations between France and the United States, and reconstructing forty-five square miles of war-ravaged country, but they evinced a most capable business ability in running their big organization."—Wellesley College News.

A TEST OF WORTH

Knowledge is commonly attained through study. The process of studying is generally carried on in universities or other institutions of learning. Education, however, means more than the acquirement of knowledge. It is broader. Not every person who is graduated from a university has acquired knowledge. Neither is every university graduate really educated in the best sense of the word. A university degree in itself signifies little.

To be educated in the best sense of the word, says a professor in the University of Chicago, a person should be able to answer affirmatively all of the following questions:

Has education made you public-spirited?

Has it made you a brother to the weak?

Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?

Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?

Can you look an honest man or pure woman in the eye?

Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

Can you be high-minded and happy in the meanest drudgeries of life?

Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing and golf?

Are you good for anything yourself?

Can you be happy alone?

Can you look on the world and see anything but dollars and cents?

Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see a clear sky?

Can you see anything in the puddle but mud?

Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?

Some university students will be able to answer "yes" in every instance. On the other hand there are a great number of people who never heard a professor's lecture but who could give the same answer to every question. A university training is not essential to complete happiness. Neither is it an essential to success.

The professor's questions constitute a test of each individual's worth.

Admirer—Very much indeed. The church scene was so realistic that I went to sleep.

ALUMNI ARE VERY ACTIVE IN NEW YORK

Get-Together Luncheons Are Held Weekly

PROMINENT GRADS

Former Football Star, Dr. Gibson, Heads Society

To keep McGill graduates in touch with the undergraduate activities of their Alma Mater, and to carry on friendships formed at college Alumni Clubs have been formed all over Canada and the United States; one of the most active of the American branches is that in New York City.

Every Friday the McGill Crest is pinned in a corner of the dining-room used by the Canadian Club in the Hotel Belmont. At that hotel McGill men in New York dine every Friday at noon, and eagerly listen to the latest news about the track, football and hockey or basketball teams.

Under the active presidency of one of McGill's former football stars, Gordon Gibson, Jr., Med. '04, the New York society has been very active during the past year. Dr. Gibson retains the same modest ways, for which he was noted while at McGill, and recently refused to have his picture taken for the "McGill News."

Among those present at a recent luncheon were:

Dr. C. H. Higgins, secretary of the New York branch, who now holds an important position at the Lederle Antitoxin Laboratories; F. T. H. Bacon, Sci. '08; F. G. Wickware, Arts '04, Sci. '06, of D. Appleton & Co., New York; and Dr. E. P. Mathewson, Eci. '85, LL.D. '21.

Next to Dr. Mathewson's skill as a leading metallurgist of the continent, the most striking thing about him is his great personality. This has helped him where others have failed, for it makes men glad to do their best for him. His first position after graduation was with the Pueblo Smelting and Refining Co. In 1902, he moved to the Anaconda Copper Mining Co. of Anaconda, Mont. and soon became Manager of the Reduction Works. Here he was so successful that he made the Mashoe plant, the show-place of the metallurgical world. While at Anaconda Mr. Mathewson made a reputation as a good citizen as well as a metallurgist. ## THINGS TO WORRY OVER BY PSYCHE

"My dear, how tired you look!" and "You seem to have enjoyed your vacation" are both highly recommended as compliments of the season.

The reportorial practice of describing hockey players as "fast" has spoilt many a date.

The report that Columbus, Peary and Scott have been spiritually engaged to discover the present location of the Law Building is unfounded. Columbus is busy this week, while Peary and Scott are under doctor's orders not to over work.

We read with interest the headline "Faculty to Enter Dramatic Field." To be plowed under, as was the Players' Club?

The Prominent Graduate who was struck by a bottle (empty) thrown from a third story window, is reported to lay all blame on the "man higher up."

Coach Shaughnessy is confident of a McGill victory in the hockey match tomorrow night. "In fact," says the coach, "the game's on ice."

A prominent Grand Mere dramatic critic insists that it was a great mistake not to have had Babe Ruth play the leading role in "The Bat."

A chap persisted in hitting his friend whenever talking to him, with a result that the friend's cigars were always broken. The friend fooled the chap by putting dynamite in place of the cigars, so that the chap would hurt his hand.

Waiter—There's a fly in my ice cream.
Waiter—Serves him right—let him freeze.

1916, Mr. Mathewson for a short time was in charge of the new plant of the British America Nickel Corporation in Canada, and board of directors of the American. Later he severed his connection with a consulting metallurgist. He subsequently accepted a position on the Smelting and Refining Co., New York.

The following appointments are reported from New York:

W. A. Donnelly, Med. '03, has been made president of American Association of Certified Milk Commission.

H. J. Schwartz, Med. '98, has been appointed professor in charge of the Department of Dermatology and Clinical Medicine at Cornell University.

RUGBY PLAYS OF SEASON ARE COMPILED

Several Runs for Length of Field

MANY FIELD GOALS

Covington of Centre College Kicks 6 Drops in 1 Game

Among the exceptional plays of the past football season as compiled by Parke H. Davis in the New York Herald, there is a rather striking number of incidents where players on small college teams have distinguished themselves against much stronger opponents. Mr. Davis has collected and analyzed statistics of the longest runs, longest drop kicks and other rare plays. Among other things, he has found that 10,000 collegians took part in this form of sport this fall.

"The first classification of exploits to attract our attention," says Mr. Davis, "are those rare plays in which a player catches an opponent's kick-off and runs for a touchdown. So rare is this startling and stirring exploit that out of approximately 6000 kick-offs this fall less than a score of instances are to be found in which the ball was caught and run back for a touchdown."

Heading this list is a run of 100 yards by H. F. Sweeney of Susquehanna. It is particularly noteworthy in that it was made against a more powerful team, Colgate. Albright College is credited with two runs of this kind, one being made against the strong Cornell eleven, while Notre Dame had no less than four runs of this character, two of which were made by the same players, Don Miller. Of the "Big Three" only Harvard is represented by "Winnie" Churchill, who ran 88 yards for a touchdown against Florida.

The longest run of any kind this fall was made by George Staten of Ohio Wesleyan, who, standing five yards behind his own goal prepared to put out of danger, suddenly changed his mind and race down the right side of the field before the surprised Wittenberg team had realized what had happened. This is the longest run since 1912, when Erhart ran 108 yards, but his performance was on a field 110 yards in length.

The longest scoring forward pass of the year brings to light one of the most picturesque incidents of all time. Coe College, of Iowa, undefeated during two seasons, was playing the strong Cornell College of Iowa. With only a few minutes left to play and on the short end of a 7 to 6 score their chances of winning seemed slim indeed, but George Collins, Coe's star halfback who had been forced to retire in the first half, as the result of what later proved to have been a fractured jaw, implored to be allowed to go back. Once in the game he played spiritedly and brought the ball to Cornell's 43-yard line. It was fourth down and the quarterback called for a pass. Faking an end run so as to give his ends time to get down the field, he suddenly passed straight down the field to Wernimont who was standing on the goal line.

Other exception runs of the year were the 95-yard runbacks of an intercepted forward pass by L. C. Randall, of Georgia, and the 102-yard dash of Chas. W. Palmer, of Northwestern after having recovered a fumble.

Of field goal scoring which played so prominent a part in winning games this fall, Mr. Davis has this to say:

"The most notable novelty in football evolutions in recent years has been the growth from season to season of field goal scoring. Not only have more games been won this fall in this manner, but more field goals have participated in the total of all points scored and more defeated teams have scored against their victors by this method. Similarly there has never been a football season in which so many long goals, goals exceeding forty-five yards in length, have been scored.

The honor of having drop-kicked the longest goal is shared by Charles M. O'Hearn 1924S, and Stephen A. Coutchie, of Illinois, both of whom kicked the ball over from the 52-yard line. O'Hearn's kick was made against the strong Carnegie Tech. Team, while Coutchie's changed what seemed a certain tie with Northwestern into a victory for Illinois.

For the first place in number of goals drop-kicked Herbert Corington of Centre had little competition, his record of ten goals during the season, six of which were scored in one game against Louisville, surpassing that of any other player in the country.

The leading placement kicks of the year proved to be Allen G. Lincoln, of Missouri, who had six to his credit, while he shared with Edward R. Monjo of Williams, the distinction of having kicked the longest one, 48 yards.

Finally, we come to the largest individual scorer of the season who was Brigg Kingsley of Franklin and Marshall College. He succeeded in making 20 touchdowns for a grand total of 120 points. Leonard Brunnet of Lafayette, was second with 86 points.

The following are the principal record scoring plays of 1922 as compiled by Parke H. Davis, in the New York Herald.

AT THE IMPERIAL

It is difficult to see how anyone could express anything but satisfaction for the bill presented by the Imperial this week. The bill was true vaudeville, with a little bit of everything in just the right proportion. The most exacting tastes were catered to. Paul Nolan did most of the work for Paul Nolan & Co. Without uttering more than a few incomprehensible grunts, he went through a series of sleight-of-hand tricks that bordered on the marvelous. The other end of the company is a young lady of unusual charm. Young and Wheeler gave an exhibition on the piano and violin that was much better than what one has grown accustomed to expect from this grade of player of late. We have seen children perform fairly well before, but their vehicles have usually been rather thin. The Roth kids proved a revelation to us, the vehicle was interesting and the kids' interpretation of the rather difficult parts undertaken was good. Baroness de Hollub, taking first the part of the "Gainsborough Girl" and later that of "Bird of Prey," pleased the audience, the last selection being especially well received. When Tom Kelly comes on the stage a laugh at once starts, even before this entertaining gentleman has a chance to say a word. His mode of carriage is, to say the least, very engaging. When he tells some really new jokes, and tells them in a unique fashion, the audience can hardly contain itself. Tom Kelly has, as well, a very pleasing voice. The last item on the programme, Mercedes, is alone worth the price of admission. Following a brief explanation of the nature of the exhibition they were about to give, the practical part of the show was offered to an audience whose scepticism soon vanished. A selection is named inaudibly and is then transferred mentally to the lady out at the piano, who proved practically infallible. People were chosen indiscriminately from among the audience, showing that everything was above board.

CREATURES OF ENVIRONMENT.

The man who works his way through school is usually the man on the campus with the broadest grin. He is the one that can clutch his sole capital in one hand. He is that person who subscribes first to the worthy causes. He is the one who keeps up the scholastic end of the institution.

Many colleges find that at least half the students in school are working their way through. They are sacrificing the present for the future. It is hard to watch others enjoy the social events of the school while they must ponder over their studies and devote their spare hours to outside work. They have little time to take in activities. They force themselves to become obscure elements in the life of the school.

That sole difference of financial difficulties has made the working student the better scholar and proved to be the downfall of the fortunate one. If the situation were reversed the scholar would under the influence of the life of ease, tend to become an inferior student while the other one would assume the position of the leader. It is merely another phase of the "creature of environment" theory. It cannot be remedied and it must be accepted for it will be ever thus.

OTHER CAMPUSES

UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE.

The word carnival, and the phrase "Queen of the Carnival," is in the air in Montreal now. Montreal is not, however, the only city running a carnival. There is going to be a carnival at Knoxville, the only difference being that this carnival is being undertaken by a university, whereas the local one is being run by the city fathers. To judge by the prominence given the matter in the "Orange and White," the college paper, the event is going to be very successful. Following a monster parade and the distribution of prizes, a ball will be held. It is expected that everyone in the University will turn out.

WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY

The Student Council of West Virginia has undertaken the establishment of a co-operative book store. The store will be located in some room on the campus, it is said, and will employ football men who are trying to work their way through college. It is hoped by the council that a room can be obtained soon so that the store can be established by next semester.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Alpha Kappa Alpha is the name of a colored sorority established in 1912 at Howard University. This sorority recently established a chapter at Indiana University.

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Miss Elizabeth Wallace, who has been at Chicago University since its foundation, has resigned as Dean of the Colleges of Arts, Literature and Science. Miss Wallace will continue in her present position as associate professor of French Literature.

DARTMOUTH UNIVERSITY

Albert H. Washburn, professor of Political Science and International Law, who is at present the United States minister to Austria, while on leave of absence from Dartmouth, has been appointed by President Harding to represent the United States at the International Law Conference at the Hague. Professor Washburn will assist John Bassett Moore, the other United States representative at the conference. With the sanction of President Harding, Prof. Washburn will preside over the Arbitration Commission formed for the purpose of settling disputes between Jugo-Slavia and Austria relative to pre-war contracts.

ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

University rulings will hold all students accountable for cutting the last class and all preceding classes in succession before the Christmas vacation, according to the announcement made by Dean Thomas Arakle Clark. The rule does not mean that the students will have to pay a fee for this offense, but it does mean that the students will be considered dropped from the right to take a final examination in all courses so cut, and $5 is the fee charged for the right to take a special final examination in the course.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

Plans are under way to provide music for university skaters this winter. The newly constructed rink on the lower campus will be enclosed, circus seats erected and a shack built on one end of the field for a six-piece orchestra.

"It will be a week or ten days before we will be able to get things in order and be able to procure an orchestra," George Martin, grad, director of winter outdoor sports, declared. "It will also be necessary to charge admission in order to pay expenses. The rates have not been decided as yet." The rink will be scraped in preparation for the varsity hockey practice.

OKLAHOMA UNIVERSITY

Four students have been suspended from the university since November 6 for failure to make up unexcused absences in military drill, according to Emil R. Kraethli, secretary to the university. Those suspended were Lee O. Lewis, freshman Arts and Science, Ardmore; John Anderson, sophomore Engineer, Norman; Martin L. Monahan, freshman Lawyer, Waynoka; George Guthrie, freshman Arts and Sciences, Oklahoma City.

Three of the suspensions were due to failure on part of the student to make up his drill time after being given proper notice. One was a result of the student making a mistake in turning in his age. When this mistake was discovered it was too late to make up the time. The students were suspended only for the remainder of this term and will be permitted to re-enter school at the beginning of next semester.

MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

President Marion L. Burton, addressing a pre-Christmas convocation of Michigan University, appealed to the students to support the Seven Million Dollar campaign for the expansion of the University. The new structures to be erected include an enclosed swimming pool, a field house for women, and others.

An old negro was charged with stealing a chicken, but the evidence against him was not very clear.

HEAVIES LACKING IN BOXERS' RANKS

Heavyweight Candidates Are Asked to Turn Out

At 5:15 tonight the boxing department of the B.W. & F. will hold the usual workout at Molson Hall. This is the first workout that has been held since college closed for the Christmas vacation.

At present there is a marked lack of heavyweights. It is absolutely essential that McGill be represented in the Intercollegiate event this year. If no men of the class mentioned above turn up it means that the matches will have to be defaulted as far as McGill is concerned.

Any men with Intercollegiate aspirations must go into training now. Men will be chosen from the floor tonight to represent the university, who in the opinion of the coach, have the ability will be put under strict training at once.

It has been definitely decided that the college championships will be held this year on February 3 and 5. This gives those men who desire to get in on the work ample time to get into condition.

Every man in college is eligible for this work and all are encouraged to participate. Not only is the training essentially of benefit to those participating of it, but also, small M's are awarded to those who succeed in becoming college champions.

Contrary to the general misconception, a great deal of experience is not necessary to get a man into the Intercollegiate championship contests. Careful training for a short period is all that is required to get a man into this position. This particularly applies to the heavyweight division.

There is also a marked lack of men in the one hundred and seventy-five pound class at present. Up to this time no whirlwinds have been discovered. Any men in this class should do their best to turn out, in order that some of the gaps may be filled.

The special Wednesday classes started a month or so before the Christmas holidays will be revived. This class is for those who have been chosen as likely constituents of the Intercollegiate team. Only those who receive special invitations are eligible for attendance at this special workout.

MED. '27 WIN WEIRD GAME FROM MED. '28

Only Four Men Appeared for Losers

The scheduled hockey game last night between Med. '27 and Med. '28 resulted in little more than a good workout for the former team, only four members of the Med. '28 team having put in an appearance. The score was 3 to 0.

There was some discussion prior to the game as to the advisability of playing at all, but it was decided to give those men who had taken the trouble to get into their outfits, some kind of a game, so despite the fact that the result was almost a foregone conclusion; the two teams lined up and play was started.

After a series of individual rushes on the part of the forwards, McKinnon finally secured, and carrying the puck the length of the ice, notched the first goal. The same player tallied again a few minutes later. Med. '28 backchecked persistently, and for a short time the winners were unable to score, even though Med. '28 were without the services of a goalkeeper. McAvoy, however, soon got possession of the puck at centre ice and shooting into the empty net from a long way out, scored the third goal for his side. He scored two more in quick succession, both being the result of some pretty stick-handling.

At this stage of the game, Med. '27 gave their substitutes a chance, and the losers, rapidly tiring, were unable to prevent three more goals from being scored.

It became apparent here, that the game was developing into a farce, and it was therefore called, the members of both teams putting in the balance of the hour in a mixed practice.

The line-up was as follows:

Med. '27.	Goal.	Med. '28.
Brown . . . . .	Defence.
Adams . . . . .	McDonald
McKinnon . . . . .	Forwards.
Quackenbush . . . . .	Aubut
McAvoy . . . . .	Olmstead
De Hiate . . . . .	McDonald

Who Gets the Most for His Money?

THE fellow who buys haphazard—or the chap who puts his every-day purchasing on a business basis?

THE LATTER, OF COURSE. He is the one who reads the advertisements and discovers just where he can buy what he wants. He is the one who realizes the great value of advertising when it comes to the important business of spending his hard-earned money.

The well-informed shopper ALWAYS HAS THE ADVANTAGE when it comes to stretching the dollars. And you can't possibly be up-to-date on the shopping news unless you make a practice of reading the advertisements.

The advertisements show you how to save money—and steps—and time. WATCH THEM CAREFULLY.

Anything that increase your purchasing power is working hard for you.

SCHOLARSHIP IS DISCUSSED AT TORONTO

Minor Amendments Made to Original Resolution

S.C.M. WORK

Will Be Presented to Parliament as Govt. Measure

Among other important matters discussed at the recent conference of the Student Christian Association held at Toronto, was the matter of the proposed Empire Scholarships. The reason for this resolution being brought forward is found in the preamble which expresses the feeling of some students that definite action ought to be taken on the part of Canada to show the practical desire of the people to promote better relationships between the nations of the world, a being taken for granted that such is the desire of the Canadian people.

The resolution as originally framed, was with a few amendments of a minor nature, adopted by the Conference. It is understood that this resolution will be brought before the parliament at Ottawa as soon as is possible. If enough pressure can be brought to bear upon the government this resolution will appear as a Government measure. If it is not possible to accomplish this a private measure will be the result. The Conference is however determined that this resolution, in the form adopted at Toronto, come before the House of Commons in the near future.

An unamended copy of the resolution follows:

"Inasmuch as the Dominion of Canada is a member of the League of Nations, which has been founded on a basis exclusive of race and religion, we, the students of the Universities of Canada, with a view to promoting the ideals of that League by bringing Canada into closer contact through intellectual activities with the nations of the world, and in the belief that only through the development of a mutual understanding between races and nations can war be eliminated as an agent of settling international disputes go on record, through our representative organizations as in favour of the forwarding of a resolution to His Majesty's Government of the Dominion of Canada requesting:

"That the Government of the Dominion of Canada set aside annually a sum of money sufficient for the purpose of awarding scholarships to the countries and in the manner as hereinafter set forth:

"(1)—Twenty-two scholarships to be awarded to graduates of the universities of Canada for the purpose of pursuing post-graduate studies at any university in any country chosen by the students elected to these scholarships.

"(a)—The distribution of these scholarships as between universities to be based upon the enrolment of students in the universities of Canada.

"(2)—Fifteen scholarships to be awarded among the members of the British Empire excluding Canada, not more than two scholarships to be awarded at any one time to any one British Dominion or colony except that five be awarded annually to India.

"(3)—Sixty-four scholarships to be awarded on the following basis: South America five; China five; Japan five; Russia five; Austria three; Czechoslovakia three; Spain two; Italy three;

HART HOUSE

"When a multitude of young men, keen, open-hearted, sympathetic, and observant, as young men are, come together and freely mix with each other, they are sure to learn one from another, even if there be none to teach them; the conversation of all is a series of lectures to each, and they gain for themselves new ideas and views, fresh matter of thought, and distinct principles for judging and acting day by day."

These words of Newman follow another well known sentence in which he compares, on the one hand, the university which has no professors and no examinations but brings a number of men together, thus giving them the opportunity for the interchange of ideas, and, on the other hand, the university which merely teaches and grants degrees. Newman prefers the former.

Happily the University of Toronto provides not only the lecture-room and the laboratory but possesses in Hart House the common meeting place where men of all faculties and colleges can "come together and freely mix with each other." Hart House seeks not to destroy but to supplement that most powerful of all influences in a Canadian university, loyalty to college or faculty. In the crowded hours of midday and the late afternoon its corridors are thronged with students, and in Common Room, Hall or Gymnasium men of different years, different interests, and destined for different careers have the chance to meet. The committees, which bring some eighty men into close touch with the management of the various activities of the House, draw their members indiscriminately from all faculties.

These things, however, should be, and probably are, provided by any well administered undergraduate club. The peculiar significance of Hart House is that it aims to do much more than this. Besides the amenities of an excellent club, besides the opportunity for the exercise of almost every form of indoor sport, its founders conceived the idea of making provision for all those elements in a student's life which might in the broadest sense of the word be called spiritual—books, music, drama, painting, religion itself. To carry out such a plan needed both vision and generosity. That neither were lacking is shown by the building as it stands today, certainly unequalled in Bulgaria two; Roumania two; Turkey two; Greece two; Portugal one; France five; Germany five; Holland three; Denmark three; Norway and Sweden four; Finland two; Poland two."

The second clause of the resolution deals in detail with the final conditions of the scholarships. The scholarships are to be awarded for a period of two years, with a value of $1,500, plus transportation to and from the country to which the scholarship is awarded.

The third clause defines the conditions of eligibility for a scholarship. The students eligible will have to be graduates of some recognized university, which grants degrees of the same standard as those of recognized Canadian universities and must not be over 21 years of age.

The next clause provided for the appointment of a board for the purpose of allocating the scholarships to the different countries and with the power to decide which university in Canada the students elected to the scholarships shall attend. This will be decided according to the course desired and the academic standing of the student.

The fifth and final clause proposes to grant exemption from the usual head tax to students coming to Canada under these scholarships from China.

Canada, probably unsurpassed on the North American Continent. It is almost impossible to gauge the influence which Hart House is already exercising on the men who use it day by day; nor is any great flight of imagination necessary in order to foresee the immense contribution it must make, in succeeding generations, to the life of the University as a whole.

There are days when the variety of its activities are bewildering in their appeal. A visitor would, indeed, be of sluggish imagination did he not find inspiration in merely walking round the House between the hours of five and seven in the evening. Let him pass from the Athletic Wing, every part of which—boxing, fencing, and wrestling rooms, gymnasium and swimming pool—are full of healthy, energetic, struggling humanity, to the theatre below the quadrangle where, under the supervision of the director, some thirty or forty people are rehearsing for a Greek play—students (many of them) in the east and students at the switch-board, all amateurs, giving their services to forward the interests of drama in the University, but producing work which is anything but that of an amateur either in acting or staging. Passing out by the Wardrobe room door, let the visitor make his way to the Sketch Club rooms and here he will find preparations being made for a lecture on the history of art by a well known art critic from our own city. Let him regain the corridor which runs past the big common rooms and glance into the chapel where, it may be, there are a handful of men who have thought it worth while to withdraw for a short time from the press of daily affairs. Let him mount still higher and passing the Library, where every chair is occupied and silence reigns, come to the Music Room. Here is an audience comprising men of all faculties and years, gathered to hear a programme of music, performed by some well known musicians of the city, who come as friends, receiving no fee, and come willingly, because they have the vision to see they are sowing seed in a fruitful soil. As he passes out of the building, let him look into the Great Hall where men are gathering for their evening meal in surroundings as beautiful and dignified as those of any of the ancient universities.

Truly a noble House, worthy of the great University, of which it forms so important a part.

A university is primarily "a place of the mind" and Hart House by providing "the true education that is to be found in good fellowship, in friendly disputation and debate" makes valuable contribution to this the most important side of University life. But this is not all. To those who know how to profit by it, Hart House gives to all students, no matter of what faculty, the opportunity to develop the body and to learn something, though it be only the rudiments, of Art. It has done much to make the University of Toronto "a good place in which to live as well as in which to study."

If it is true to the ideals which its founders had in mind when they caused it to be planned and to be built, Hart House "will give birth to a living teaching, which in course of time will take the shape of a self-perpetuating tradition or a genius loci as it is sometimes called; which haunts the home where it has been born and which imbues and forms, more or less, and one by one, every individual who is brought under its shadow."—J. B. Bickersteth in U. of T. Monthly.

PART TIME STUDENT DETRIMENTAL

"In Washington, D.C., there are, proportionately, more part-time students than anywhere else in the country," writes Professor William M. Marston, of the American University in the Washington, D.C., Times.

"And a considerable number of these part-time students are confirmed 'degree collectors' that is, people who go about collecting college and university degrees with the same zest and childish satisfaction as the parchment itself (which, alas, often isn't a parchment at all, in Washington, but only a piece of stiff paper) that you and I used to display in collecting stamps or marbles when we were boys. Why, I know one of these chronic students, a very close friend of mine who has managed to gather in seven degrees in six years. With him, apparently, 'all is wheat that comes to the degree collector.'"

"Now I seem to recall, during my days of marble collecting, that ordinary marbles—'piggies,' I think we called them—were pretty much alike, and I was just as happy in winning a dozen dirty, decrepit, 'piggies' as in acquiring twelve spic and span new ones. Moreover, when my collection reached about the thousand mark I began to be rather bored with my efforts to increase it, because each newly added increment meant that I had to count the whole thousand in order to glory in my increase, and that was a little too much like work. Do you see the hope this marble experience is pointing to in my mind with regard to our degree collectors? I am sure my friend of the seven degrees in particular will soon grow weary of poring over so many Latin worded titles and will ease up in the expression of his collector's instinct. Quantity never did permanently satisfy the human race, and I think the time is not far distant when the mere number of 'piggie' degrees it is possible to collect in a given time will cease to attract the intelligent Washingtonian, for practically all the students with whom I have come into contact are unusually intelligent, and when the saturation point is reached it will be up to us university people in the district to have ready a new and higher class of degrees which will contain real intellectual work enough to satisfy the enlightened demand of the students. "The great difficulty lies in the fact that the majority of the students are earning their living and going to school on the side. To produce any first class intellectual work it is psychologically necessary to concentrate on it over a considerable period of time, and not switch off to something totally irrelevant, mentally. Under these conditions, the best that can be done is to take off five or six years instead of three or four, for the college course and even then the result cannot be compared with a shorter period of undivided attention. I believe every boy and girl who possibly can should have his college period free from psychologically irrelevant distractions."—The Denver Clarion.
